

If you dare to compare use similies, metaphors and personifications to add figure to your language. Comparing things that are not alike is easy. Similies do it simply by using "like" or "as", while a metaphor makes its point by saying something, is something else. Personify it with personification. Give eagles hands and trees thought and figures of speech is what you've got.